DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant's Admitted Prior Art (AAPA) in view of USPN 5,950,071 to Hammond et al and in view of USPN 5,023,424 to Vaught and further in view of either of USPN 6,297,138 to Rimai et al or in view of USPN 5,930,606 to McCulloch. AAPA discloses (Background of the Invention, Specification pages 2-6) well known use of a laser for material removal from a workpiece surface. Hammond et al discloses (Title) Detachment and Removal of Microscopic Surface Contaminants Using a Pulsed Detach Light and discloses (column 2, lines 17-26) laser ablation which both removes particles and micro-roughens the surface. Vaught describe (Abstract) a particle removing method comprising scanning, or locating and storing, of locations of particles on a workpiece surface. Both Rimai et al (column 2, lines 16-22) and McCulloch (column 2, lines 18-46) disclose laser operation which changes the surface material property of roughness and thereby improves subsequent adhesion to the surface. The use of a removal and roughening method as disclosed by Hammond et al with a locating or scanning step as disclosed by Vaught in the well known AAPA processes of cleaning and subsequent adhesion of a compound to a surface would have been obvious at the time applicant's invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art because finding the particles prior to cleaning is known as disclosed by Vaught and laser material removal is disclosed by all the references. Use of a rough surface for improving a subsequent bond is very well known and the instant roughening with a laser is known and described by Hammond et al in a cleaning method and described by Rimai et al and McCulloch in methods of improving surface material properties for subsequent adhesion thereto.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed January 11, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to applicant's argument that there is no suggestion to combine the references, the examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or modifying the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1988) and In re Jones, 958 F.2d 347, 21 USPQ2d 1941 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, the references are in a similar field. Hammond et al is drawn to removal of surface particles using laser. Vaught is cited on the front page of Hammond et al. Both Rimai et al and McCulloch were found in the U.S. Patent database using these search terms: (laser with improv$5 with adhe$7) same ((semiconduct$4 silicon wafer chip die) with rough$5).

In response to applicant's arguments against the references individually, one cannot show nonobviousness by attacking references individually where the rejections are based on combinations of references. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981); In re Merck & Co., 800 F.2d 1091, 231 USPQ 375 (Fed. Cir. 1986).

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
